Cross the Miami-Dade Cultural Center Plaza to HistoryMiami Museum.

Enter the museum’s north or south building for check-in.

Check-in with museum staff in either the north or south building lobby. There may be a line to wait in. At check-in, our staff will ask the name(s) you have registered under. Everyone will receive a sticker to wear.

There are a few different exhibitions to visit. Some may be brighter, and some may be darker than others. Some may be cold. Some might have music, high-pitched buzzing, or other sounds. Other people will also be at the museum.

Some things in the museum are for touching. Some things are only for seeing or hearing.

If you need a break, you can leave the galleries and go back later. There are quiet corners in some exhibitions and a sensory room to sit quietly inside.

There will be some activities at the museum that you can do. You can play with incredible foam.

You can play with blocks at the block building station.

You can choose to join a guided tour to learn about the history of South Florida.

Or you can explore the museum’s exhibitions at your own pace.
